Australia's best employers: The 50 winners of 2016 announced over two categories

The Daily Telegraph
August 31, 2016 5:16pm

THERE was a time when your boss was a legend if they laid on a pool table. In a games room. Or even a games room. Then it was all beanbags, chill-out zones and hot-and-cold-running frappuccinos.

Whatever the key ingredients, The Great Place To Work survey and contest has been going for nine years and takes into account many factors about the dream work environment.

Two-thirds of each score comes from employee responses to 58 statements, the rest coming from GPTW evaluation of each company in nine areas.

And IT/software firms are represent highly. The top 10 are marked in bold. So the drumroll, please ...
